Little Napoleon Praises Kookie Infielder for His THIS young player appears Work at Texas Training Camp and Classes His Style With That of Bancroft and Frank Frisch

By Charles A. Taylor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 12 .- The scarcity of real, first class infielders in the big leagues was the theme discussed by John J. McGraw, highly of the newcomer that he manager of the Giants, during Friday's long practice session. The little Vapoleon, assisted by Hughie Jennings, had been paying special attention to the work of his large band of youngsters who aspire to emulate the to the work of the two ex-Orioles on the diamond, when he suddenly launched in Rapp. The question of "Will

The whole matter centers on the proper use of the hands, as I said a moment ago. The so-called star infelder, the man whose errors are few and far between, has his hands more or less outstretched as he awaits the ball and therefore they afford a fairly large target, so to speak, for the ball to shoot at.

The trouble with so many is that they held their hands close together, affording an opening hardly larger than the ball itself for it enter. The result is that the ball is just as likely to strike them on the ends of the fingers or even on the back of the hand as it is to land in the glove. Error after errer is the lot of this type of player; still they wonder why the other fellow the strike them in the came while they

New Giant Regular Was Sent to Minors By Reds Last Season

JOSEPH ("GOLDIE") RAPP, who will play third base for the Giants this season, was born in Cincinnati twenty-five years ago. He throws right-handed and bats from either side of the plate.

Rapp was purchased from the St. Paul Club of the American Association for $15,000. With that club in 1920 he batted for an average of .335, thirty-seven doubles and nine triples being credited to him. He also distinguished himself by stealing forty-nine bases.

The new Giant was with the Los Angeles club in 1914 and before being sent to the St. Paul team by the Cincinnati Reds last year had played with St. Joseph, Peoria, Richmond and Beaumont. Rapp served in the army during the year 1918.

Six Rookies Are Destined to Win Permanent Jobs With Huggins

Al Wingo, Bill Piercy, Tom Sheehan, Alex Ferguson, Al Devormer and Johnny Mitchell Seem Certain of Regular Berths on Team This Year

By R. J. Kelly

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11-After two weeks of observation, Manager Miller Huggins has obtained a good line on the ability of the young players. Some of the recruits have proved that they are ready to be retained in fast company, others have displayed exceptional profiles, but are in need of further experience, and still others have failed to come least, on some of the youngsters who will accompany the Yanks back to the Polo Grounds next month to open the championship season. He has started negotiations for the release of others to various teams in the minors. Among the youngsters who are assured of sticking with the team, at least until the season opens, are Al Wingo, Bill Piercy, season opens, are Al Winge, Bill Piercy,

Tom Sheehan, Alex Ferguson, Al Devormer and Johnny Mitchell.

The last week marked the appearance of most of the veteran players at the camp, and there are now only three more to report. These are "Home Run"
Baker, Rip Collins and Bob Meusel.
The last two named are still on the hold-out list.

Three Promising Pitchers

Three Promising Pitchers

For the most part the really strenuous work has been confined to the rookies, and the older players have just begun to loosen up their muscles, but almost the entire squad will be going at full blast by the end of next week.

Of the large array of young pitchers the most promising are Piercy, Sheehan and Ferguson. These three have been showing plenty of class since the training season opened and each has more than an even chance of being retained. Huggins has admitted that he has been quite impressed with the work of this trio.

Huggins has admitted that he has been quite impressed with the work of this trio.

Piarcy is probably in better shape than any other of the twirlers, mainly because he has done a good deal of pitching on the coast this winter. He was obtained from the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast League and is with the Yanks for the third time in his young career. He bears a marked resemblance to Christy Mathewson, both in physical appearnce and in his style of pitching.

Sheehan was purchased from the Atlanta club, of the Southern League, and last year won twenty-six and lost seventeen games. He was known as the "iron man" of that circuit and pitched 375 innings during the season. Ferguson established quite a reputation while with the Jersey City club in 1920.

Al Devormer, formerly of the Vernon club, seems quite certain of being kept on the Yankee's roster, as Huggins is in need of an extra catcher to relieve Wallie Schang and Fred Hofmann in case of an emergency.
